NOTE FOR: Mr. [REDACTED]

25X1C

1. Attached is the [REDACTED] testimony before Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on 5 February 1970.

25X1C 2. Jay Sourwine, Chief Counsel of the Subcommittee, gave us the galley proofs for our review for appropriate security deletions before publication. Jay said that a combination of [REDACTED]'s tendency towards volubleness and a limited vocabulary rendered much of his testimony incomprehensible and that what now appears in the galley proofs is a major reconstruction by Sourwine. Therefore, Jay also suggested that either we or [REDACTED] might wish to make such changes as are needed to assure accuracy.

3. As you recall, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] sat in on the session and [REDACTED], SB, reviewed the transcript of the testimony back in February.

4. Sourwine did not set a deadline, but since the material is in the form of galley proofs they obviously are interested in publishing it, although no urgency is involved.
